CURRICULUM CORNER

SANTA FE TRAIL DISTRICT WEBSITE

In line with state regulations, every school district in Kansas provides a Compliance Page on its district website. This is a valuable resource for parents seeking crucial information about their child's education. This informational hub serves as a gateway for parents to access comprehensive details regarding assessments and curriculum. Within the SFT district website, parents are presented with an expansive array of these resources, created to support student learning and academic success. Notably, the website boasts an extensive compilation of resources, including a district-wide assessment calendar outlining testing schedules. Additionally, parents can explore in-depth core curriculum materials tailored for key subjects such as Math, ELA, Social Studies, and Science, offering insights into the scope and sequence of instruction. Furthermore, the website hosts documents containing needs assessments for each school building, providing invaluable data for administrators and educators to inform long-range planning initiatives and ensure educational objectives are effectively met. This comprehensive repository of information underscores the district's commitment to transparency, collaboration, and student-centered education, empowering parents to actively engage in their child's academic journey.

READING FLUENCY AT HOME

Reading Fluency is a child's ability to read on grade level text accurately, quickly, and with expression. This is a skill that can be practiced at home. Here are a few strategies to try:

- Echo Reading - Read a sentence and have your child repeat the sentence back to you using the same expression and pauses
- Choral Reading - Read a book or passage with your child in unison, aloud
- Record It - Play the game of creating an audiobook with your child. Record it and play it back so your child can hear what his or her audiobook sounds like. You can also share the finalized audiobook with other family members to add some extra motivation and praise
